

RELIGION AND SCIENCE: THE QUESTIONS THAT SHAPE OUR FUTURE

ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

PRESENTERS & PANELISTS

SCHEDULE

The Zygon Center for Religion and Science (ZCRS) in Chicago announces a symposium on May 1-2, 2003 to mark the inauguration of its new director, Dr. Antje Jackelén. The theme, "Religion & Science: The Questions That Shape Our Future" will bring together scientists and theologians to speak on the future of the science and religion dialogue.

Dr. Philip Hefner is retiring as director of ZCRS after 15 years. Dr. Hefner, along with his duties at ZCRS, is also the editor of Zygon: Journal of Religion and Science and Professor Emeritus at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago.

Dr. Jackelén is also Assistant Professor of systematic theology and religion and science at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago.

Dr. Hefner and Dr. Jackelén will present a dialogue lecture on Friday, May 2 at 2:00 PM.

On Thursday, May 1, the symposium will open at the Adler Planetarium and Astronomy Museum, situated on the shores of Lake Michigan with spectacular views of the Chicago skyline.

On Friday, May 2, the symposium moves to the Lutheran School of Theology in the Chicago neighborhood of Hyde Park. Hyde Park is a culturally diverse neighborhood, which is home to the University of Chicago and five seminaries.

ADMISSION IS FREE

TO REGISTER, CONTACT ZCRS

Phone: 773-256-0670

Fax: 773-256-0682

Email: zcrs@lstc.edu

*Please provide your name, phone number, number of persons, and days attending

Contact ZCRS if you need information about lodging during the event.

Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi

C.S. and D.J. Davidson Professor of Psychology and the director of the Quality of Life Research Center at the Drucker Graduate School of Management of the Claremont Graduate University in Claremont, California

Willem Drees

Chair in Philosophy of religion, ethics, and encyclopedia of religion in the Department of Theology at the University of Leiden in the Netherlands

Ursula Goodenough

Professor of biology at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri

Arthur Peacocke

Warden Emeritus of the Society of Ordained Scientists and the Honorable Chaplain and Honorable Canon at Christ Church Cathedral in Oxford

Mary Evelyn Tucker

Professor of history of religions and Asian studies at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pennsylvania and Coordinator of Forum on Religion and Ecology

IAN BARBOUR

Physicist, theologian, author, and winner of the 1999 Templeton Prize for Progress in Religion. He is the Winifred and Albert Bean Professor Emeritus of Science, Technology, and Society at Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota

V.V. RAMAN

Emeritus Professor at Rochester Institute of Technology in Rochester, New York

VITOR WESTHELLE

Professor of systematic theology at the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago

GRACE WOLF-CHASE

Research Scientist in the Department of Astronomy and Astrophysics at the University of Chicago and an astronomer at the Adler Planetarium

ANN PEDERSON

Associate Professor of religion in the Department of Religion, Philosophy, and Classics at Augsburg College in Sioux Falls, South Dakota

Thursday, May 1

Adler Planetarium & Astronomy Museum
1300 South Lake Shore Drive
Chicago, IL 60605

6:00

Reception in Sky Pavilion

6:30

Optional viewing of Sky show

7:30

Keynote Address, "What Must We Accomplish in the Coming Decades?"

Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi

Friday, May 2

Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago
1100 East 55th Street
Chicago, IL 60615

8:30 - 9:30

"What are Future Generations Asking of Us?" Mary Evelyn Tucker

10:00 - 11:00

"Where to Look for Guidance? Past Traditions, Present Science, Future Consequences?" Willem Drees

11:30 - 12:30

"Emergence, Transcendence, and Religious Naturalism"

Ursula Goodenough

2:00 - 3:00

"Challenging the Past, Grasping the Future"

Antje Jackelén and Philip Hefner

3:30 - 4:30

"Writing the Agenda," Panel Discussion: Ian Barbour, V. V. Raman, Grace Wolf-Chase, Vitor Westhelle; Moderator: Ann Pederson

5:00 - 6:00

"The End of All Our Exploring" in Science and Theology, Arthur Peacocke

ZYGON CENTER FOR RELIGION AND SCIENCE